

Since January 2018, Susanne Steidl is Chief Product Officer & Management Board Member at Wirecard, one of the fastest growing digital platforms in the area of financial commerce. As a senior executive with over 13 years' experience in the payments industry, and having deep business and technical knowledge of innovative payment technologies, Susanne is actively shaping the future of international payments with tailor-made solutions for every industry.

Susanne studied business administration at the University of Innsbruck and the Aarhus School of Business. She later obtained a master's degree in psychology with additional international experience in Chile and the Philippines.

Susanne is also a first-generation entrepreneur. Together with colleagues, she founded Axxom Software AG in 2001, a startup optimizing production and logistic processes through mathematical algorithms. She later started at Wirecard in 2006 where she built up the issuing business, before leading the deal to acquire Citi Prepaid Card Services and becoming Managing Director of Wirecard North America Inc.
