

Albrecht Ritschl

Albrecht Ritschl, born in Munich/Germany in 1959, is Professor of Economic History at the London School of Economics and a fellow at the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR). He was previously Professor of Economics at Humboldt University of Berlin, at the University of Zurich, and Associate Professor of Economics at Universitat Pompeu Fabra. He has published extensively on German economic history in the 20th century, with a focus on the Great Depression and the 1930s. He received wide press coverage for his warnings against an overly strict approach towards the Greek debt problem. Ritschl coordinated a collaborative research project on the history of Germany's economic ministry since 1918, and is currently lead researcher in a similar project on the history of the Reichsbank and the Bundesbank.
