Dr. Jörg Goschin, CEO of KfW Capital

As a principal investor, senior manager, company founder, and advisor to the German government, Jörg is distinguished by his proven international track record in Private Markets and his valuable network of industry leaders and government representatives across Germany and Europe. Currently, Jörg serves as the CEO of KfW Capital, a subsidiary of the German state-owned KfW banking group and a leading European VC fund investor, which he co-founded in 2018. His prior roles include Partner at The Blackstone Group in London, Managing Director at Cerberus Capital and Member of the Management Committee at BNP Paribas in Frankfurt. Earlier in his career, he held positions at The Boston Consulting Group, and Metzler Bank. Jörg holds a PhD in Finance and a dual degree in Electrical Engineering and Economics.

Copyright: KfW Capital/ W. Vorjohann

KfW Capital, the venture capital arm of the German state-owned KfW banking group, is a major LP in the European VC and Growth Equity space, with over €2.5 billion deployed across more than 135 international VC funds. Building on this significant footprint, KfW Capital launched a €1 billion VC fund of funds in 2023, attracting investment from leading institutional players and prominent single-family offices in Europe and the U.S. Looking ahead, 2025 marks a key expansion with a new €1 billion direct investment program aimed at top-tier late-stage technology companies. Beyond its investment activities, KfW Capital plays a crucial role in advising the German government on shaping the future of the German and European VC ecosystem and driving innovation.